

Environmental Control Panels

Kooltech offer a range of control panels designed to maximise the efficiency of air conditioning, pumps, AHU and heating systems, whatever the application. From the simple, single unit control panels to the more complex, multi-unit controllers offering remote operation via LAN.

Our specialist bespoke design and build service perfectly matches individual demand.

- Individual control up to 200 indoor units (M-NET addresses).

- Daily, weekly and annual schedule including night set back to protect the fabric of the building.
- Control directly from a device through cross over cable or LAN via hub/router.
- Range of standard control solutions.
- Additional Control options via Interface Solutions.

Kooltech provides full commissioning of the Mitsubishi Electric equipment and K-con control panels. All systems are thoroughly inspected and checked against design and working drawings to ensure maximum system efficiency.
